Guidance to Encourage Financial Institutions' Youth Savings Programs and Address Related Frequently Asked Questions

On February 24, 2015, the Federal Reserve, the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, the National Credit Union Administration, and the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency (as members of the Financial Literacy and Education Commission), and the U.S. Department of Treasury’s Financial Crimes Enforcement Network issued guidance regarding youth savings programs.

The guidance is intended to encourage financial institutions to develop and implement programs to expand the financial capability of youth and build opportunities for financial inclusion for more families. The guidance also addresses frequently asked questions that may arise as financial institutions collaborate with schools, local and state governments, non-profit organizations, and corporate entities to facilitate youth savings and financial education programs.

The guidance does not impose additional compliance or examination requirements on financial institutions or examiners, respectively. Rather, the guidance is intended to clarify the applicability of existing legal and regulatory requirements in a manner intended to remove perceived barriers for financial institutions to establish school-based youth savings programs.
