The Federal Reserve Board Requests Nominations for Appointments to the Consumer Advisory Council

The Federal Reserve Board announced that it is seeking nominations for appointments to its Consumer Advisory Council. The Consumer Advisory Council meets three times a year in Washington D.C. and is primarily responsible for advising the Board on the exercise of its responsibilities under various consumer financial services laws. Ten new members will be appointed to serve three-year terms beginning in January 2007.

In addition to a resume, nomination submissions should also include the following items:

- Full name, title, address, e-mail address, telephone, and fax numbers
- Organization's name, address, telephone, fax number, and a brief description of the organization
- Past and present positions, dates, and description of responsibilities
- Knowledge, interests, or experience related to community reinvestment, consumer protection regulations, consumer credit, or other consumer financial services
- Positions held in community and banking associations, councils, and boards

Letters of nomination with complete information must be received by August 25, 2006. Nominations received after this date may not be considered. Both electronic and mailed submissions are acceptable, though electronic submissions are preferred. Please visit <http://www.federalreserve.gov/forms/cacnominationform.cfm> to access the nomination form.

Submissions can be mailed to the following address:

Sheila Maith
Assistant Director and Community Affairs Officer
Division of Consumer and Community Affairs
Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System
Washington, DC 20551
