

DAVID UMANSKY

*Chief Executive Officer and Co-Founder
Civic Builders*

David Umansky is the CEO and Co-Founder of Civic Builders, a nonprofit facilities developer that provides turnkey real estate solutions for high-performing charter schools. By assuming responsibility for building financing, acquisition, design and construction, Civic relieves charter schools of the burden of navigating a complex real estate market and provides affordable educational facilities. Civic's work supports the success of charter schools by enabling school administrators to focus their time and resources on the important work of educating children. Since 2004, Civic has invested over $150 million in charter school facilities in New York City and is now beginning work in Newark, New Jersey.