
Silicon Valley Talent Partnership

Presented by

Pete Furman, Chief of Staff
Office of Mayor Chuck Reed

May 15, 2013

A Shrinking Number of City Employees

Source: City of San Jose Adopted Operating Budgets, FY 2001-02 through FY 2011-12

Office of Mayor Chuck Reed

Last Updated: 12/09/2011

Police Department Budget and Staffing Since FY2001-02

SJPD
Budget

SJPD
Staffing

Source: City of San Jose Adopted Operating Budgets, FY 2001-02 through FY 2011-12

Office of Mayor Chuck Reed

Last Updated: 12/06/2011

How does one innovate when there isn't much time or resources to innovate?

Silicon Valley Talent Partnership Purpose Statement

Silicon Valley Talent Partnership (SVTP) is a 501(c)3 non-profit organization that will help restore and enhance public agencies' capacity to innovate by creating and managing partnerships between highly-skilled private-sector volunteers and public-sector workers. SVTP will skillfully select and scope projects which will facilitate transformative civic engagement and the design and delivery of effective and efficient public services by leveraging talent and technologies such as open-data structures, cross-departmental collaboration tools, crowd-sourced and cloud-based applications, advanced analytics, and social media.

Silicon Valley Talent Partnership

Bringing teams of talented people and technology together to help solve public sector challenges

