

Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco

Economist Position

E -- Macroeconomics and Monetary Economics

F4 – Open-Economy Macroeconomics

G -- Financial Economics

The Research Department of the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco is looking to hire one or two new or experienced Ph.D. economists in the above areas. We prefer candidates with academic or other professional research experience, but we will consider candidates from new Ph.D.s as well. For experienced candidates, solid research achievement is essential. All economists, regardless of rank, are expected to publish in top academic journals. In addition, economists prepare high-level analysis for presentation in Bank policy briefings and publications. For all candidates, excellent communication skills are required.

The Department provides an outstanding research environment and has a proven track record of producing highly cited work. Salary and benefits are competitive. Information about the Research Department may be found at: <http://www.frbsf.org/economics/>

Application Instructions:

Candidates must apply on-line at www.frbsf.org/federalreserve/careers (click the Job Search tab, then click on "Economist" from the menu under "Market title"). Please include cover letter, CV, and at least one research paper.

Please also have three references sent to SF.Macro.Resumes@sf.frb.org. Your referrers should use the following suggested subject line: "Candidate Last Name, Candidate First Name - Economist recommendation."

An equal opportunity employer.