

DATA SNAPSHOT

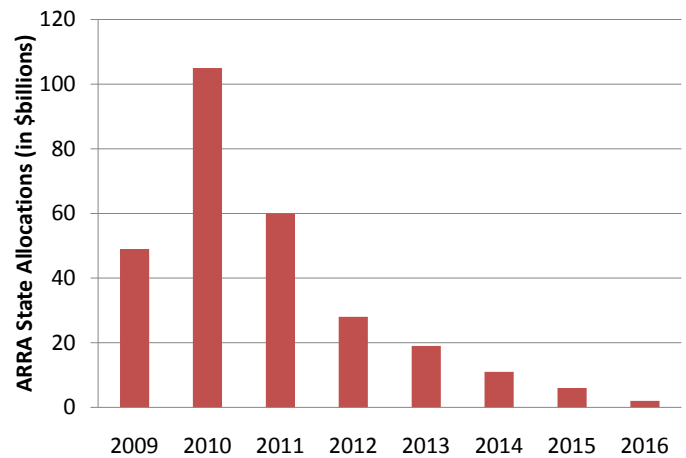

The American Recovery and Reinvestment Act

The American Recovery and Reinvestment Act of 2009 (ARRA) is estimated to cost about $787 billion over the next several years, of which about $280 billion will be administered through states and localities.

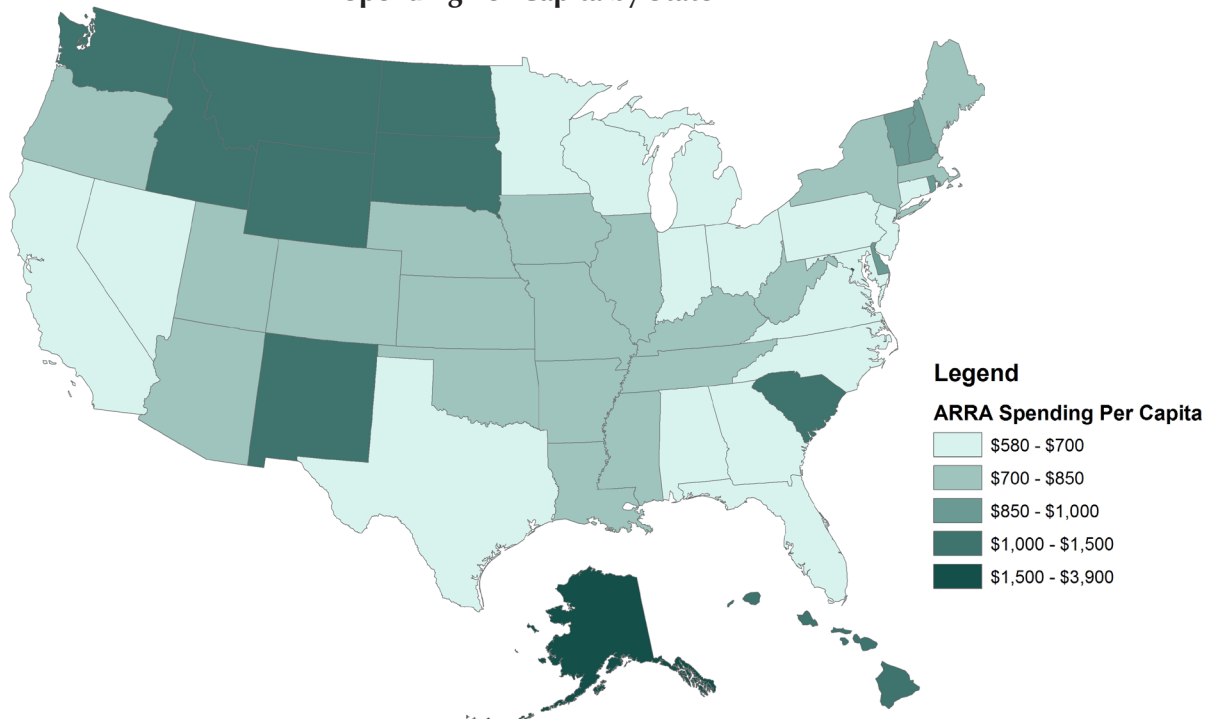

National Distribution of ARRA Spending

Timeline for ARRA State Allocations

ARRA Spending Per Capita by State

* Tax Relief - includes $15 B for Infrastructure and Science, $61 B for Protecting the Vulnerable, $25 B for Education and Training and $22 B for Energy, so total funds are $126 B for Infrastructure and Science, $142 B for Protecting the Vulnerable, $78 B for Education and Training, and $65 B for Energy.

State and Local Fiscal Relief - Prevents state and local cuts to health and education programs and state and local tax increases.

Data as of July 8, 2009. Downloaded from www.recovery.gov.

12th District ARRA Funds Received

State Distribution of ARRA Funds Related to Community Development

*Early Childhood Education includes - Head Start, Early Head Start, and Child Care and Development Block Grant. Data as of July 8, 2009. Downloaded from www.recovery.gov.