

2024 Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco Thomas J. Sargent Dissertation Fellowships Call for Applications

The Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco invites applicants for the 2024 Thomas J. Sargent Dissertation Fellowship program. The summer fellowship offers doctoral candidates the opportunity to meet with Fed research economists and visiting faculty, make progress on their dissertation research, and receive mentorship from senior economists. SF Fed economists conduct cutting-edge research that contributes to the analysis and direction of monetary policy.

Dissertation fellows attend department seminars, discuss research projects with San Francisco Fed economists, and participate in Bank social activities. The fellowship carries a stipend.

Candidates are sought in the fields of macroeconomics, international trade, financial economics, environmental economics, urban economics, and labor economics. Potential synergies with department economists will be taken into consideration in the selection of fellows.

Qualifications and requirements

Fellowships are open to PhD students from all doctorate-granting colleges and universities.

Applicants must:

- Have passed their PhD qualifying examination
- Be at the dissertation-writing stage at a U.S. university
- Be a U.S. citizen, permanent resident, or a nonresident student visa holder
- Reside in the San Francisco Bay Area for the duration of the fellowship as scheduled for six weeks during June to September 2024 (six weeks chosen by fellow)

To apply

Please email application packet to sf.er.dissertationfellows@sf.frb.org with the following:

- CV
- Sample research paper
- Cover letter
- Two letters of reference (sent directly from letter writers)

Timeline

- March 25, 2024: Application deadline
- By mid-April 2024: Selected applicants will be notified
- June–September 2024: 6-week fellowship

The Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco is an Equal Opportunity Employer. Our people proudly reflect the diversity and ideas of the communities we serve.