Certain Market Indicators are Looking Up

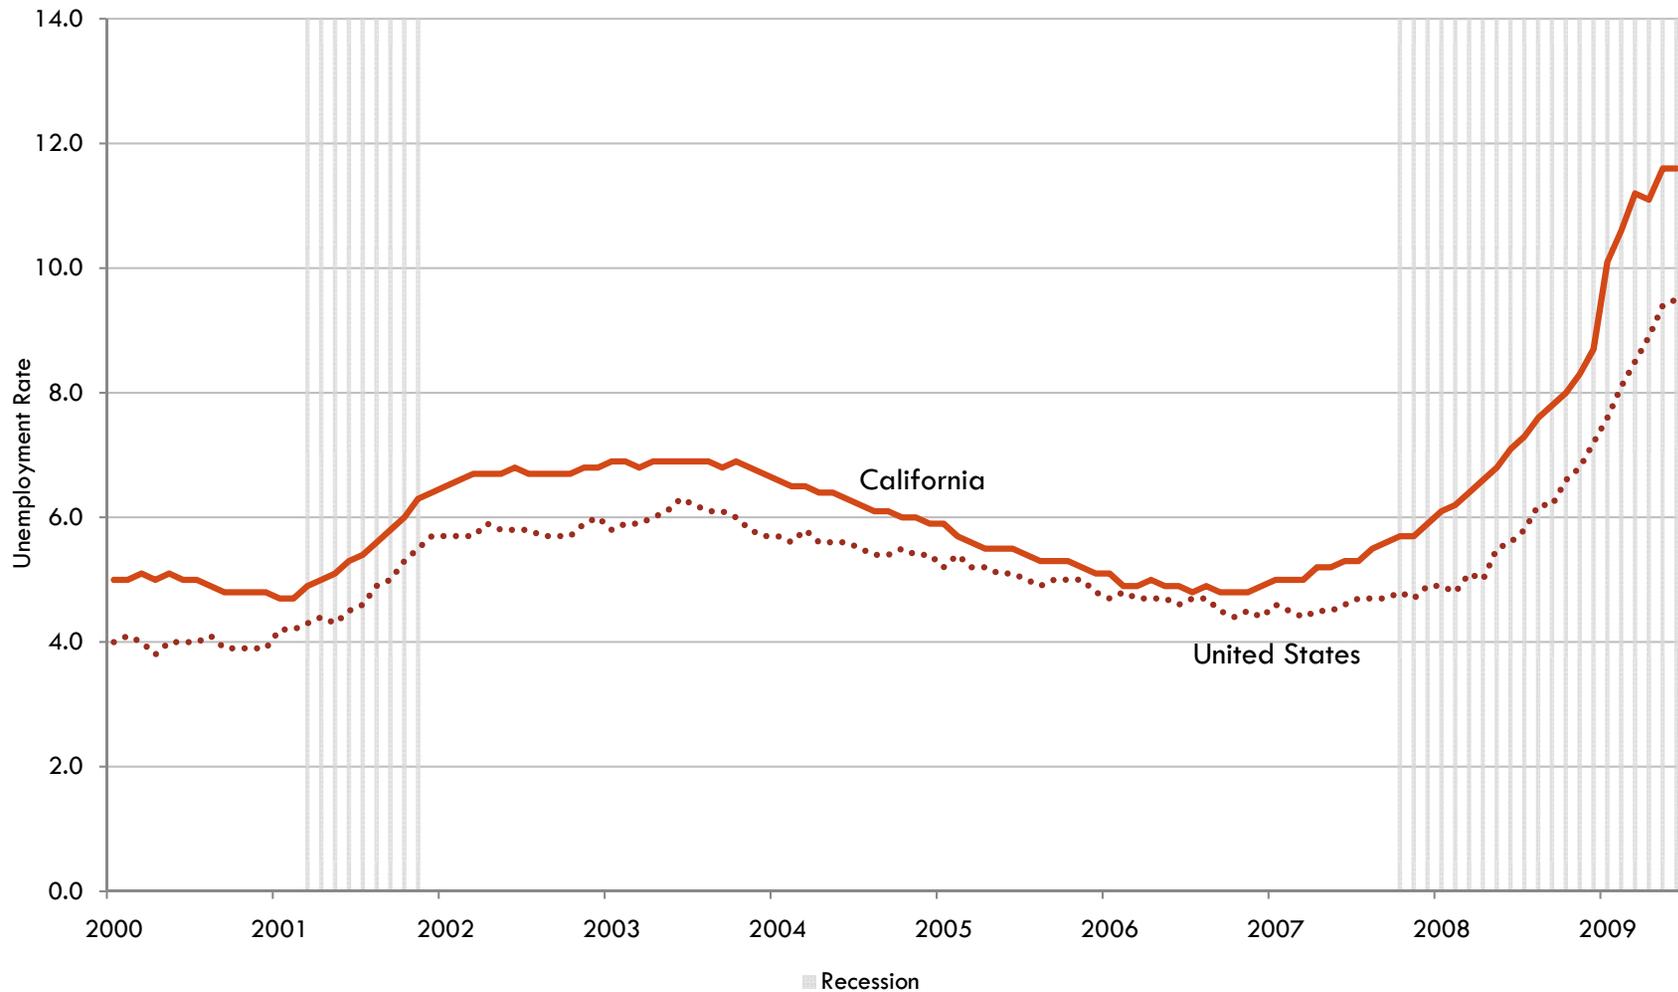

- Financial markets are improving, and the crisis mode that has characterized the past year is subsiding.
- The housing sector, which has been at the center of the economic and financial crisis, also looks to be stabilizing—albeit, at a very depressed level. Housing starts and new home sales have leveled off, and existing home sales have edged up in recent months.
- Income from the federal fiscal stimulus, as well as some improvement in confidence, has helped stabilize consumer spending. Since consumer spending accounts for two-thirds of all economic activity, this is a key precondition for economic recovery.

Nevertheless, Recession is Likely to Have Long-Lasting Impacts, Especially for Lower-Income Families

- 48 states face significant budget shortfalls, and are cutting public services such as health benefits for children and public education.
- Tightening lending standards will make it more difficult for families and small businesses to access credit: the Federal Reserve's quarterly Senior Loan Officer Opinion Survey on Bank Lending Practices found that 65 percent reported tightened standards for the fourth quarter of 2008.
- CDFIs are increasingly facing liquidity constraints; their borrowers are in more need of 'patient' capital at the same time it is becoming harder to provide it.

http://www.pima.gov/current/2008_November%20English%20Workbook.pdf
 - Making Homes Affordable
 - Federal program provides both loan modification and refinance options
 - Online form available that allows borrowers to assess if they qualify for the program

Preventing Foreclosure Scams

- Foreclosure scams are proliferating, especially in markets with investor interest
 - ▣ Some counties are sending notices to all delinquent borrowers to warn them about foreclosure scams
 - ▣ Free media kit available from the Federal Reserve which includes a PSA and other resources:

- Minimize negative spillover effects of vacant properties on surrounding neighborhood
 - Ensure servicer maintenance of REOs
 - Work with lenders/servicers to acquire and rehab foreclosures for affordable housing
